Australia (AUS)

Reputed for its coastal strips of long beaches and the Great Barrier Reef extending about 2,000 km along the northeast coast, Australia combines a wide variety of landscapes, including deserts, mountains and tropical rainforests. Over 90% of the population is of European descent, predominantly from Christian faith (mainly Catholic and Anglican). Immigration has been critical to Australia's development since the beginning of European settlement, at the expense of the indigenous population which today makes up around 2.5% of the population.

The first inhabitants of Australia were the Aboriginals, a hunting and gathering people who migrated to Australia from Southeast Asia more than 40,000 years ago. Following sightings in the 17th century, Capt... More
